

PRESS RELEASE: iHealth Innovative Solutions (iHealth) Obtains DC Certified Business Enterprise (CBE) Certification
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Date: May 27, 2020

iHealth Innovative Solutions (iHealth), a health information technology organization is pleased to announce the company is now recognized as a Certified Business Enterprise (CBE), by the District of Columbia Department of Small and Local Business Development (DSLBD). As a District-based company, iHealth looks forward to participating in the program to improve the District, and help clients meet their CBE utilization goals.

Mr. Deon Norals, President and CEO stated that, “This CBE certification is another important step in our journey as a small, locally, resident owned business. Not only will it allow us to pursue projects funded by the DC government, but it’s also a designation we believe our customers and community partners will recognize and value.”

About the District of Columbia Department of Small and Local Business Development

The District of Columbia Department of Small and Local Business Development (DSLBD) fosters the economic growth, development, and retention of District of Columbia based businesses, and promotes economic development throughout the District’s commercial corridors.

For more information visit <http://dslbd.dc.gov/>.

About iHealth Innovative Solutions, LLC.

Founded in 2013, iHealth Innovative Solutions (iHealth), is a small SBA HUBZone certified health information technology organization located in the heart of Washington, DC. Our focus is on bringing the gap between healthcare and technology. We do this by leveraging best of breed solutions to address complex problems, that can not only deliver remarkable cost saving outcomes, but also accelerate discoveries using health intelligence and analytics. Our niche capabilities also include cloud transformation and implementation; electronic health records management and support; program and project management; application development; and protecting environment with state-of-the-art cyber security detection solutions.

We build value and opportunity by investing in cybersecurity, analytics, digital solutions, science, and consulting. Our culture of innovation empowers our employees as creative thinkers, bringing unparalleled value for our clients, and for any problem we try to tackle to help them succeed in their mission.

Find more information about our services please visit: www.ihealthis.com.